

Our services Franchise

One-to-one advice on any business questions

What particularly makes our partnership model stand out is something that will pay off especially in the period following start-up, as to be a partner also means having a reliable partner by your side. We will therefore not only guide you on your way up to the start, but will always be there for you.

Our services

- Intensive consultation during the start-up phase and subsequent practice
 - Support in marketing and PR
 - Training and induction into our concept and business structures
 - Support in tour and staff selection
 - Business consultation
 - Exchange of ideas and experiences at national and international meetings
 - Analysis of development potential through business comparisons
 - Sales statistics
 - Registered trademark
 - Distribution channels
 - Modern online booking system
-

Running an eat-the-world city partnership is a full-time occupation when it first gets under way. During the initial stages however, a lot of partners are content to build up their branch part-time. You too can plan your new future in this way, step by step, continually building on your success.